Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN COMMENCES WITH SUPPER AND SPEECHES YESTERDAY NIGHT AT THE HALL

All Preparations for a Careful Canvas of the Student Body have been Made and Prospects of Success are Bright

RETURNED MISSIONARY'S INTERESTING ADDRESS

Last Year's Secretary, Mr. Russell Paterson also Spoke to the Assembly

About seventy-five enthusiastic representative from Arts, Medicine and Theology gathered for supper last night at Strathcona Hall with the purpose of inaugurating the Campaign for Bible and Mission Study, which is being carried on this week.

Mr. Jas. Coote, President of the Association, was in the chair, and introduced the first speaker, Mr. E. Russell Paterson, who is well-known to all McGill men. Mr. Paterson spoke on the claims of Bible Study for college men. Bible Study is the only means by which a man can obtain an adequate conception of the Kingdom of God upon this earth. What a theory is to its practical appreciation that Bible Study is to the Kingdom of God which is moving the world today. A man should take up Bible Study, because it is the only means by which he can keep with him during the day his sense of the presence of God. The religion of young men is being boiled down to the simple conception of Jesus Christ as a companion. This conception is found to be satisfactory to most men. It certainly makes for character. Bible Study does not mean attendance at a weekly class. It is the daily devotional study which really counts. The speaker, in conclusion, expressed a wish that the men of McGill might find it possible to spend more time in daily study of the Bible, in order to obtain a fuller conception of this companionship with Jesus Christ.

Mr. H. D. Robertson, Student Y. M.C.A. Secretary for Canada, and for some years a missionary in China, then addressed the meeting on the claims of Mission Study. Mr. Robertson spoke of the great trip around the world which John R. Mott is taking, describing it as one of the most important journeys in the sense of the results which will accrue about which the world has ever known. The Continuation Committee of the great Edinburgh Missionary Conference has chosen this leader of North American student life to undertake this trip in order to hold conferences with missionary leaders throughout the East and to report on the present condition of Christian missions. It is only within this generation that such a sweeping view of the world situation is possible.

Men are coming to realize more and more that if there is one position more than another in which a strong man may live in absolute accordance with the principles laid down by Jesus Christ, it is on the foreign mission field. One of the greatest values of the group classes in Mission Study is that students will be seized with the idea of taking Christ into consideration in choosing their life work. Any man who goes through such a course with its discussion, and with the new light which it will bring, will be forced to put this life on a high plan than anything thought of heretofore.

Mission Study at McGill will mean the giving of lives to the furthering of the great missionary enterprise. The meeting then broke up, and the representatives from the various classes divided up the class lists among them. It is planned to canvass every man in Arts, Medicine and Theology. The Faculty of Applied Science will be adequately covered as soon as their examinations are over.

THE SENIOR HOCKEY SQUAD NEED STRENUOUS WORK-OUT BEFORE CAME WITH QUEENS

Men are Slow in Getting out to Practices and Consequently a Full Hour's Hard Work is Impossible—Only Twelve Men Out at Yesterday's Practice

SCIENCE EXAMS INTERFERE WITH PRACTICES

Several Absentees from Senior Line-up Yesterday

Yesterday's practice of the senior hockey team was not all that could be desired. The date of the first game is drawing near and it is extremely necessary that the men should be in the very best of trim for the opening encounter. Queen's are by no means weak if anything is to be believed that is rumored about the Kingston aggregation.

The most important fault about the practices is the time at which the men turn out. The hour which the team has at the Arena is from five to six and the men ought to remember this and be ready to go on the ice sharp at five o'clock, instead of only arriving at the Arena at that hour. It was half past five yesterday before any line-up could be attempted. The Arena management are very strict in making the different teams which have hours at the rink stick to their time and make them leave the ice as soon as their sixty minutes are up.

Unfortunately, some of the players were unable to get out yesterday as they were writing examinations. Grey, Pontbriand and two or three others were absent from this cause, nevertheless there were twelve men in uniform towards the latter part of the hour.

Montgomery was in goal for the seniors and showed that he could be relied upon at any time. Mony will probably figure on the line-up of the senior team, although as yet the make-up of the seniors for Friday is far from certain. Mann was unable to get out last night but will be out on Wednesday night. He and Montgomery are having a great fight for the position in the senior nets.

Capt. Rankin seems unable to hit the stride he was travelling at last year and has not shown the same form at all this season as he displayed in the Intercollegiate fixtures last year. Ramsay seems to delight in carrying the puck down the ice and trying a long side shot instead of passing out to the centre. He did this repeatedly last night and only

EDITORIAL NOTE.

We feel that there is an apology due our readers with regard to an editorial notice which appeared in these columns in yesterday's paper regarding the Liberal rally. The Daily, of necessity, has no party politics and is in no way desirous of lending itself to the support of either party. The Mock Parliament as an institution we naturally approve of but that is should appear as if we were lending our support to either party is something we regret very much.

In this case what should have been an advertisement had an appearan[illegible] far otherwise.

MOVING PICTURES

One cannot help regarding with a certain amount of scepticism the statement of the famous French actress, Sarah Bernhardt, that she wished to preserve her art for posterity by acting for the moving pictures. At the same time the incident serves to illustrate one of the many interesting phases of motion picture development.

This development has in recent years been phenomenal and merits consideration. There are several distinct phases of this growth, the industry which has sprung up in connection with the manufacture of the pictures; the mechanical development of the films and apparatus; the consequent improvement of the pictures shown; the number of theatres and the civic problem they present as regards fire inspection and lastly, the effect of the pictures upon, and their appeal to the people.

The industrial development and the lengths to which the producers of picture plays go to obtain material for their films are being given lengthy treatment in many magazines; there is in fact a Moving Picture Magazine. plays has not received as much prominence as other points in connection with them. The announcement,

The mechanical develoomeent in the production of the however, that Edison has now practically perfected an invention for giving a portrayal of the voices of the characters and the noises made by their actions, opens up a field for speculation as to the further growth of the pictures. The experiment has been tried in the past but with very little prospect of success. If Edison's method of sound reproduction proves as effective as is claimed, the usefulness of the pictures in educational ways will be vastly enhanced, although the same statement also applies to the strictly theatrical end of the business.

As regard the number of theatres there are two points of interest and often of difficulty connected therewith. The first of these lies in the matter of fire protection; a matter which has caused trouble for the administrations of more than one city and which is perhaps even yet not as thoroughly attended to as might be desired. The second point and one of scarcely less importance is the censorship of the films. In many municipalities this is not as effective as it might be. It is true that vulgarity and immortality are barred but nevertheless many of the films shown are of anything but a desirable type as the portrayal of crime is all too common.

In regard to their effect upon the people there is little information to be had. They are of course regarded chiefly as a method of Amusement and entertainment and yet they have an undoubted educational effect. From this point of view the films which portray current events are of far more value than those which are purely theatrical in their appeal, although there is still something to be said for the latter.

Moving pictures have been used in many Sunday Schools and Y.M.C.A's. for educational purposes and it is almost safe to predict that, if they have not already been used in connection with university extension lectures they soon will be. There also might seem to be a field of usefulness for them in the Colleges although so far they have not been adapted to academic purposes. Enterprising American football and rowing coaches however have used them as a means of instruction for their teams and crews and have found them a useful means of pointing out faults in the plays and styles of rowing of the respective men under their charge.

For the conveyance of information to the people and as a means of causing them to think, the pictures hold a unique position. They cannot, on the whole, fail to have a very powerful influence and they serve to convey ideas graphically to the mind of the individual of the laboring class, which he would otherwise only form a vague conception of. That this is thoroughly realized becomes immediately apparent when one considers that Ontario municipalities have seen fit to bar moving picture plays in which American flag waving occured.

It would be interesting to know what influence the close student of industrial conditions would attribute of the moving pictures. The growing desire for amusement on the part of the working classes is a feature of the industrial situation considered worthy of a great deal of attention by authorities on the subject and it is safe to say that the moving picture theatres have in the past few years changed the situation entirely. The moving picture theatres far and wide throughout the land spring up, like the sons of the dragons teeth, from the soil which they immediately proceed to cultivate. We think on the whole that in the future the influence they wield will be even greater than it is at present, and it is to be hoped, on a loftier plane. Certain it is, that their scope is widening every day, and that it is impossible to tell what further developments their future will see along mechanical or other lines.

It is true indeed that the motive behind the industry is a desire for money. That the attraction exerted by them is almost altogether due to their ability to entertain must also be admitted, and yet, they are serving a purpose of which probably both the producers and the public who patronize the theatres are unaware.

Notes and Comments

Queen's team is well supplied with Smiths. W. Smith, the captain, was on the team last season, with McKinnon, Blakeslee, and Box. Ray Smith is "in right" between the posts, while a freshman, by the same name, was tried out in that position on Thursday. "Len" Smith, of last year's second team plays either rover or centre, while Dafoe, a new figure among the seniors, is a centre man. Moxley and Elliott are booked for the defence. These are most of the men to be tried out on Friday night.

Harvard defeated the Boston A. A. last Thursday in a fast spectacular game of hockey by the score of 4—1. The whole team played at top speed, and seemed to have entirely recovered from the slump which has been apparent in their work since Christmas. Excellent team-work was exhibited by the University team.

The first of the Intercollegiate Union basketball games was played here this evening between University of Toronto and Queen's, the Toronto team winning by the score of 50 to 40. At halftime the score was 22 to 21 in favor of Varsity, whose team was in better condition after an American tour during the holidays. The teams:—

Queen's — Pound and Cheney, forwards; Jemmet, centre; Stearns and Erskine, defence.

Varsity — Brock and Boddy, forwards; Simpson, centre; Thompson and Scott, defence.

Referee—Roy Day. Umpire— Harold Trotter, Kingston, Y.M.C.A.

The postponed Queen's Varsity game will be played at Kingston on the 22nd inst., that date having been selected by Varsity, who did not want to play two union games away from home in the same week.

Varsity, since they are going to play the postponed game with Queens on Wednesday the 22nd in Kingston, will have two hard games that week as McGill plays them in Toronto on the Saturday after their game in Kingston.

McGill who plays forward on the McGill Water Polo team, is one of the best exponents of this sport in Montreal. He was the particular star of last Saturday's encounter, and his goal was the result of a beautiful shot.

Both goal-keepers, Egerton for McGill, and Rust for the M.A.A.A., played brilliantly and saved what looked like certain scores on more than one occasion.

The Basketball team surprised their supporters and the Central Y.M.C.A. team on Saturday afternoon, as our team was not expected to make nearly as good a showing as they did. Two of the regular five were missing but the men who filled in played a strong game. As a result of Saturday's victory, our chances of winning the Intercollegiate championship look very bright, as it is evident that the team with the five regulars playing would be very strong. It is also fortunate that the Basketball team has such efficient spares in its squad as good substitutes can rarely be done without.

McGill is fortunate in having two such efficient goal-keepers as Montgomery and Mann. Both these men played a good consistent game while on the holiday tour. Mann played last year for the second team, and only the extraordinary clever work of Warwick in the nets for the seniors kept Mann from making the first team. Montgomery played for St. Andrew's College School, Toronto, last year, and came to McGill with a splendid reputation as a goal-keeper.

Ottawa College badly defeated the Stewartons in Ottawa last Saturday night, and are confident of giving New Edinburgh a very hard game next time they play them. If College can defeat New Edinburgh in their next encounter with them, the University team will be right in the running for the championship of their section of the Interprovincial.

The crowd at the Water Polo game last Saturday was a welcome sight to the McGill team as they have been very poorly supported all year by the students. The Water Polo team deserve great credit for the fight they put up for the championship which they lost by so little.

Varsity played St. Michael's last Saturday afternoon and were badly defeated by the score of 9—2. The largest crowd that has ever attended a hockey match in Toronto was present and this was on a Saturday afternoon, the game starting at 2.30 o'clock.

SUCCESSFUL RALLY WAS HELD YESTERDAY BY LIBERAL PARTY

Mr. McCrimmon has been Appointed Leader of the Party

That all political interest is not dead in McGill was amply proven at the Liberal Rally yesterday afternoon. Unlike the attempted meeting of the Conservative Party the meeting was well attended, well over three score enthusiastic politicians being present. The meeting also differed in that it started promptly on time.

The meeting was called under the chairmanship of Mr. A. K. Hugesson the former Prime Minister of the Mock Parliament. The first item of business was the resignation of Mr. Hugesson. This was made entirely owing to press of other work, and Mr. Hugesson promised the party his hearty support. Mr. K. W. McCrimmon, of Arts '13, was unanimously elected as his successor. Mr. Hugh B. Griffith, Arts '14, was elected chief party whip. Other appointments made were faculty whips, as follows: Arts, C. S. MacKenzie, '14; Science, (to be appointed); Medicine, H. R. Griffith, '17, (temporary); Law, A. K. Hugesson. Further appointments were made as follows in Arts— First Year, P. S. Fisher, W. S. Lighthall; 2nd Year, Ailan Oliver; 3rd Year, R. Gates; 4th Year, J. S. Bruneay, J. Bieler.

Men in Arts who wish to affiliate with the Liberal Party should give their names to any of the above.

Announcement was made at the meeting of further plans for the opening, which takes place on Tuesday, January 21. Dr. Leacock has consented to act as Governor-General for the occasion. The C.O.T.C. have been asked to form a body-guard and the McGill band will be in attendance. There are to be impartial non-student speakers. Mr. Gregor Bartclay is to be one of these.

A concert and dance will be given at the Germantown Cricket Club on Monday evening, January 13, for the purpose of endowing a bed for sick students of the University.—University of Penn.

MEDS PLAN BANQUET CHIEF GUEST TO BE SIR LOMER GOUIN

31st Annual Dinner will be Held this Month

For thirty years it has been the custom in the Faculty of Medicine for all the different years to meet at the festive board, on the occasion of their Annual Dinner. At this function, the undergraduates mingle freely with graduates, faculty and guests. The best of good fellowship prevails and the toasts are proposed and responded to by men who are keen after dinner speakers, and are sparkling with rich human and serious advice. The Dinner this year will prove to be the most successful in years. This the committee has promised. And as a start in this direction they wish to announce that Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec, has promised to attend. This fact alone will make it well worth while for any undergraduates to attend. Sir Lomer will be a pleasing addition to the list of celebrities who have been guests in past years. Among these may be mentioned Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir William Osler, Dr. Tait McKenzie of University of Pennsylvania Earl Grey, Dr. Clark, Dean Shepherd and Dr. Gardiner.

This year the Dinner will be held at Freeman's Hotel, Monday, January 27th, at 7.30 o'clock. The officers and committee on arrangements are as follows:—

Pres.—J. P. Bilodeau, '13.

Sec.—G. D. McIntyre, '13.

Treas.—G. P. Dunn, '14.

G. F. Laing, '14; L. A. S. Steward, '16; L. M. Montgomery, '17.

The tickets will be on sale Monday and can be obtained from the committee, from the presidents of the various years, and in each of the hospitals.

It behooves each undergraduate in Medicine to lend his assistence to the committee to make this dinner the best in years. This can be done simply by being present. More especially should the men in the first two years show an active interest and attend. If the proper spirit is manifested by all, this year's Medical Dinner will easily retain its place as the most important function of the University.

B. W. AND F. CLUB

The Boxing practice yesterday in the Y.M.C.A. was only very moderately attended. Forbes and Page had a good little bout. Forbes is as good as ever and Page does not seem to have forgotten anything. Two new men were down—Cummings, a graduate, and McIntosh. The former has a very long reach and should make a good man. MacIntosh has been in the game before and should be useful in the 145-pound class.

The photograph of the Club for the Annual will be taken at Rice's Studio, 367 St. Catherine St. W. today. All should be present punctually at 7.15 p.m. with uniform so that the wrestlers can get away to practice immediately after.

The hours of practice for this week at the Y.M.C.A. are as follows:—

Boxing, Wednesday, 5; Saturday at 2.30. Wrestling — Tuesday at 7.30; Thursday at 7.00; Saturday at 2.30.

She (severely):—"Do you ever drink intoxicants?"

He (with a hiccough):—"Permit me to ask if that is an invitation or merely an inquiry?"

The object of the club is to encourage figure skating among graduates and students. Those who are anxious to join the club are invited to attend the first meeting at the rink on the Campus from 8 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday, January 14th. Figure skating and waltzing will take place every Tuesday evening when the weather and ice are suitable.

At the annual meeting held at the R.V.C. on Thursday last the following officers were elected:

Hon.-President Miss Lichtenstein,
President Dr. C. S. Eve,
Sec.-Treas. Mr. H. M. Lamb,
Committee Miss Cartwright, Miss Myra Ellison, Miss Ethel Cameron, Mr. Cassels, Mr. Pickard-Cambridge.

The Hockey Club training table was started last night at the Union. Ten men were present. To be successful every man should attend. The following are requested to be present. Mann, Montgomery, Rankin, Hughes, Kendall, Riley, Forman, Thompson, Sargent, Wilson, Scott, Grey, Fawcett, Pontbriand.

January, 13th, 1912.

The Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sir :—

The more broad-minded of your readers must have been greatly astonished to read the extraordinary document that appeared in this morning's issue of the "Daily" over the signature of J. C. Wickham.

Professing to be a tolerant criticism of the desire expressed by some to have established in our University a chapter of the Intercollegiate Socialist Society; it proves to be a mere ranting tirade against Socialists in general. Mr. Wickham brings forward the commonplace fatuous arguments usually formulated on such occasions as this. They are all based upon a crass ignorance of Socialist thought.

Some months ago a number of men in New York blessed with more enthusiam than common sense decided to go through the ceremony of expectorating upon the Stars and Stripes. Therefore, says the logical Mr. Wickham beware of Socialism. Apply this argument to another phase of life. Many are the cruel and disgusting things that have been done in the name of Christianity; therefore, have nothing whatever to do with the religion of Jesus Christ. Mr. Wickham, I feel sure, would be the first to complain of such an application of his logic.

It has become the habit of ignoramuses and those whose worldly fortunes are wrapped up with our present social organization to attack socialism by connecting it in the popular mind with assassination, violent anarchy, bloody revolution and even free love. Mr. Wickham. like thousands of his fellow "anti-socialists" labours under the delusion that Socialism is anti-religious. It is far from being anything of the kind. The ideal socialist state does not care a fig whether its citizens profess christianity, buddhism, confucianism, mohammedanism or the sun-cult so long as the worship of the individual does not interfere with that of his fellowmen. The Kingdom of Heaven as described in the gospels might well be considered the socialist ideal.

I venture to suggest, Mr. Editor, that the ignorance exhibited by your correspondent of socialist ideals and methods is a crying argument for the organization of the society proposed. It is only by constant debate with sympathetic critics that such a subject as socialism can be properly thrashed out.

If I were to draw a moral from Mr. Wickham's letter I think it would be this. Don't be an anti-socialist until you know what a socialist is.

I have not been able to gather from the "Daily" whether the nucleus of a socialist society has been formed or whether the matter is merely under general discussion.

I am, Sir,

Yours truly,
AUSTEN HARRISON,
73 McGill College Avenue.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

The Basketball Club held a good sharp practice last night in the Y. M.C.A. gymnasium.

The Senior men in uniform were Calder, Duffield, Forbes, Kennedy, Baldwin and Smith. The Intermediates who lined up against them were Hovey, Williscroft, Lavery, Upham, and Popham.

The men are all in good condition for the first senior game on Friday, which takes place against Queen's. It must be remembered however that while it is a home game the McGill team will be at a disadvantage, as they will be playing on a comparatively unknown floor.

The Intermediate Team will play Wednesday night against Macdonald College.

THINGS THEATRICAL

THE ORPHEUM

The headliner at the Orpheum this week, "The Antique Girl," was a decided success. "The Antique Girl" is a miniature musical comedy with good singing and dancing.

The story centres around an old singing vase, which is in the possession of Jonathan Puiney, the owner of an Antique shop. The story of the vase is that some queen had been imprisoned there by her husband, 3000 years ago. The vase possesses the property of singing. The explanation is that Puiney has his ward, Sally Clerk, enter the vase and sing whenever any prospective buyer happens along.

Ted Randolph is in love with Sally and is also in love with the voice in the vase, although he does not know that it is Sally's voice. He determines to find out what is in the vase and with Ann Creely, a newspaper reporter, posing as the Countess of Westminster, together with a few friends, breaks into the shop.

Sally overhears their plan and she dresses as the ancient queen. When the vase is broken they see Sally. Her mask soon comes off and everything is exposed.— The comedy is well worth seeing.

"Detective Keen," another good sketch on this week's bill deals with a $27,000 jewel robbery, and how the thieves outwitted the law. The playlet is very interesting and holds the attention of the audience from start to finish.

Barto and Clark pull off a good many new jokes and songs. Miss "Juliet" had a bad cold, but made a very good impression with her humorous character studies.

John Higgins, champion jumper of the world, was pretty good, but tried to be funny with the stage hand, in which he failed.

Shully and Hussy, the sportsman and his valet, and Montambo and Wells, acrobats, concluded a very good bill.

Owing to the non-arrival of the head-liner until 4.30 the performance was delayed. However, Man. Driscoll had the curtain raised and allowed the audience to get a glimpse of the staging of the scenery.

PRINCESS THEATRE

The misfortunes and troubles of a foolish and frivolous young wife whose husband is too deeply engrossed in his politics to keep proper watch over her, her allurement to Paris, entanglement in a net of compromising circumstances, mysterious letter sent to her husband, pursuit and discovery, suit for divorce, innocence emerging victorious—and all this through the machinations of a very attractive pair of villains—excuse me—one villan and villainess—who subsequently repent and by confessing clear the last cloud from the horizon of the domestic felicity of aforesaid ambitious husband and frikolous wife. Such is the plain unvarnished frameworh of the "Butterfly on the Wheel."

When however it is polished, varnished and richly upholstered by E. G. Memmerde and Francis Neilson, it makes one of the strongest and most attractive dramas that have been presented here this season.

The third act which has its locale in the Divorce Division of the High Court of Justice of England, rivals if it does not surpass in setting and intensity the famous court-room scene of "Madame X."

The acting throughout is of the very highest quality. We must confess that we had strong suspicions that owing to the absence of Lewis Waller the company would be weak if not second rate.

Possibly the surprise heightened the pleasure, but making all such allowances, the work of Evelyn Beerbohm, Charles Quartermain, Eille Norwood, and above all that of Winona Shannon, who carried her part through the ordeal of the third act superbly, all we repeat, was of the highest quality.

The press notices advice "all wives to take their husbands." We would take the liberty of extending that advice so as to include brothers and uncles—yes and "their sisters and their cousins and their aunts"—none should be denied the opportunity and privilege.

Maxims For Students of Engineering

From "Addresses to Engineering Student"
By WADEELL AND HARRINGTON

In all that you do, remember that you have the reputation of the greatest of all professions to uphold, that your integrity must ever be beyond question, and that there is never an excuse for untruth of any kind. Business shrewdness is all very well in its way, especially for those who go into contracting; but falsehood is always needless.

There is no better way for a financially successful man to aid mankind than by helping ambitious young men to secure thorough, practical education. Nor need such aid be given in the form of charity; for if the young man be honest as well as capable and energetic, the money can be lent instead of given him; and for several reasons the former method is decidedly better, principally because it does not injure the recipient's self-respect. By accepting notes at the current rate of interest for all moneys advanced and securing the loan by life insurance, the possibility of loss to the lender is reduced to a minimum. I have seen this method tried with fortunate results; and I recommend it to those successful men who desire to help others by the use of some of their accumulated wealth. The satisfaction that they will experience in the success of their proteges will transcend that from any other investment.—Waddell.

The achievements of such a profession speak an eloquent language to him who can understand their voice. For such there are indeed books in the running brooks and sermons in stones. Consider any construction of the engineer or mechanic. It is an embodied thought! Intelligence speaks in every curve; every detail has its meaning and its purpose; every member is a visible idea — the whole is an illustrated lecture. Reason and thought and design stand out in tangible shapes which speak to us no less than the printed page. And they speak a lofty language too! In this sense and spirit we may find, even in a lighthouse, a crystallized song, and in a steam engine an epic poem.

The study of the history of such achievements will richly repay the student. He will find in many an humble building the visible embodiment of a brace, true life, and the fitting monument of a noble death—its very mortar, it may be, mixed with blood, and human hearts and hopes and high aspirations built into the very courses of its walls.

—Dubois.

THE SENIOR HOCKEY SQUAD

Cakie Smith covered an awful lot of ice in yesterday's work-out, and certainly works as hard as any man on the squad. He might do a little better if he would play his position a little more, and let the other players take care of their own work. Wickson, one of the intermediate squad, is playing a very consistent game and has a wicked shot that found the nets on more than one occasion last night.

Frank Shaughnessy has nothing on Coach Laurie Roberts when it comes to yelling at his men. When Roberts gets excited he calls the men down for any loafing, and for anything that he does not approve of, much after the manner that Frank used to yell at the football men, only perhaps with more vehemence.

The training table for the hockey squad was start last night and from now on the men will take two meals a day at the training table. At the practice last night most of the men seemed to be in good condition. The tour which they took in the holidays has put them all in very fair shape.

The next practice will be on Wednesday, and as this will be the final workout before the opening fixture of the Intercollegiate hockey season, every man whose name appears on the list which will be published in tomorrow's Daily, ought to be sure and be out sharp on time. A good strenuous workout is very necessary before the Queen's game, and Coach Roberts wants to send the men through a practice that will put all the finishing touches on the material he has for his senior team.

The following men were out at yesterday's practice, the senior line-up being composed of the first seven names mentioned: — Montgomery, Rankin, Fawcett, Scott, Riley, Sargent, Forman, Williamson, McGill, Wilson, Smith and Wickson.
